premium in the Indian market. This was leading to dumping of such items to the ditriment of the indigenous industry. These factors prompted Government to take the aforementioned measure. At the same time, with a view to providing relief to the exporters, a flexibility provision has been made for the import of the Sensitive items including plastic items allowing excess upto 20% in quantity within the overall CIF value of the value-based advance licence. These Sensitive items, importable on the basis of VABAL's, are also available from indigenous manufactures through the Advance Release Order System.
